

Desert Inn Plan Awaits Mayor

Vital Mid-Town Project Hangs On Change In Councilmanic Vote

Formal decision on a possible councilmanic reconsideration of the proposed $10 million Desert Inn project in Palm Springs today awaited the return of Mayor Frank M. Bogert.

Mayor Bogert, who made a plea last Monday for council approval of the plot plan sought by Desert Inn owners George Alexander and Samuel Firs, is expected in Palm Springs late today.

Strong possibility of the reconsideration came late Friday when Councilman Earle Strebe, who had been one of three members voting for a planning commission - approved plan deemed unacceptable by the Desert Inn owners, reversed his stand on the matter.

Strebe Favors Approval
Strebe told The Desert Sun Saturday that he would favor giving the requested approval, to gain the project for midtown Palm Springs.

Robert Alexander, Palm Springs general manager for Alexander Construction Co., reported today that there have been no firm discussions between the city and the developers on possible reconsideration of the $10 million plan.

If a special council meeting is called this week to reconsider the issue, city hall observers believe it would indicate informal reconsideration by George Alexander, president of the Alexander Construction Co., of his statement last week that the proposal for the high-rise hotel, conventional facility, and shopping mall development is definitely off.

Agreement Expected
Council members would not be expected to make a public reversal of the stand taken last Monday unless general agreement were expected from both developers and council members.

Mayor Bogert is expected in town today, and Vice Mayor Ted McKinney, who made the motion last Monday endorsing the planning commission plan, is expected to call city hall today from his Monterey vacation spot. McKinney's home and office indicate he is expected here before next Monday.

Two Members Absent
McKinney's absence from town today, plus the absence of vacationing Councilman Harry Paisley and the expected departure of Councilman Kenneth Kirk, could force delay of the issue until the regular council meeting next Monday, city hall observers speculated.

Two council members were absent from the vote on the controversial Desert Inn issue last Monday, when three voted for the planning commission plan, and two — Mayor Bogert and Councilman George Beebe — voted against the plan which gained developer withdrawal of the proposed project.

Big Power Booster in U.S. Plans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department today ordered development of a new space booster rocket believed to be twice as powerful as those used by Russia to orbit its cosmonauts.

The department said it would be able to carry out "a wide range of manned and unmanned space missions during this decade."

The booster is called Titan III. Martin-Marietta Corp. was named as prime contractor for the "workhorse" launch vehicle. Development work is expected to cost between $500 million and $1 billion.

One of the major uses of the Titan III will be to orbit the Air Force Dyna-Soar, a manned space craft. A winged craft designed to land on earth bases in the same manner as an airplane, the Dyna-Soar is expected to fly in the mid-1960s.

The Pentagon said the Titan III, with a first stage producing more than two million pounds of thrust, would be able to hurl payloads of 5,000 to 25,000 pounds into space.

The booster Russia has been using is believed to have about one million pounds thrust. The largest payload the Russians have claimed to have orbited is 14,000 pounds.

The announcement came on the heels of a charge by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., that civilian "whiz kids" in the Pentagon were "detracting the military from getting into space."

H. M. Frankel Dies in Crash Near Bridgeport

H. M. Frankel, immediate past president of the Palm Springs B'nai B'rith, was reported killed in a traffic accident near Bridgeport, Calif., Thursday.

Frankel, en route to Lake Tahoe with his wife, Frances, reportedly lost control of his car and it overturned, injuring him fatally and less seriously injuring Mrs. Frankel. She was in Bridgeport Hospital.

It was expected that funeral services would be arranged in Palm Springs, pending return of a son from South America. The Frankels' local home was at 368 Indian Trail.

FLUB IN BORDER RULES

Smallpox Enters U.S.A.

NEW YORK (UPI) — A short-circuit of international health regulations appeared responsible today for allowing a Canadian boy to enter the United States from Brazil while infected with smallpox.

James William Orr, 15, a missionary's son, was isolated in a Toronto hospital today while public health authorities here pursued an intensive campaign by press and radio to get in touch with the hundreds of persons who may have come into contact with him while he was in New York Aug. 11.

The boy's father, James William Orr Sr., said in Toronto today that his son had been vaccinated "five or six" years ago in Canada. U.S. health regulations require anyone

Willy Brandt Demands 'Wall of Shame' Riots End

Mob Action Is Triggered By Refugee Murder

BERLIN (UPI) — Mayor Willy Brandt warned today that fully alerted West Berlin police would crush anti-American demonstrations by West Berliners embittered by the Communist killing of a teen-aged refugee.

Brandt said Berlin's 18,000-man police force had orders to proceed with all necessary strength against angry Berliners who Sunday night stoned American military police, Russians and their police in the most violent of three successive nights of demonstrations.

While reinforced security patrols guarded strategic points along the "wall of shame" in anticipation of further demonstrations, 300 West Berliners gathered to lay wreaths at a cross erected near the spot where the refugee was shot Friday.

A Russian army bus with 18 windows broken by demonstrators returned to East Berlin today after it was delayed almost 12 hours by the late night rioting. The British offered to provide a military escort for the bus but the Russians refused and waited until the riots ended early today to return.

In Moscow, the official Soviet Tass news agency accused West Berlin police of deliberate slowness in halting the stoning of the bus.

But West Berlin police let members of the group pass only in small groups.

A Western Allied spokesman meanwhile announced the Soviet Berlin commandant today rejected a Western request for a four-power meeting at U.S. headquarters to discuss means of preventing further border incidents.

Berlin Residents Angry
The request for the meeting was made by the U.S. commandant on behalf of the Western Allies after rioting along the wall by thousands of angry Berliners until the early hours of this morning.

Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II, Berlin's American commander, warned in a letter to the Russians that a situation was rapidly developing along the wall "which could have grave consequences extending far beyond the city itself."

"Recent incidents along the boundary between the Soviet sector and the Western sectors, some of which have resulted in the deaths of residents of Berlin, have produced a state of tension which places in increasing jeopardy the peace and order of the city," Watson's letter said.

The Western spokesman said the letter was returned by the Russians to U.S. headquarters this morning with the statement that the Soviets did not wish to discuss the matter.

Traffic Is Stopped
West Berlin police barred traffic in the Western sector of the city from driving throughCheckpoint Charlie, the U.S. control post which was the scene of the main outbreaks Sunday.

"The police have orders beginning immediately to proceed against all rioters with the necessary severity," Mayor Brandt said. "We can not and must not give the other side the possibility to drive a wedge between our people and the police."

Teamster Quits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sam Baron, a Teamsters' union official who accused President James R. Hoffa of slugging him, resigned his $17,000-a-year job Sunday and demanded $50,000 severance pay. Baron said in a letter to Hoffa that he hoped to "serve the Teamsters again but not as long as you are president of that great organization."

JFK Back Home After Ocean Dip

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy returned today from his first so-called "non-political" trip preparatory to the November congressional elections, his jet speeding him from Los Angeles to Washington in five hours, 15 minutes.

The presidential plane arrived at nearby Andrews Air Force base, Md. The President then took a helicopter to the White House.

Kennedy spent a leisurely Sunday in Southern California, swimming and sunbathing at the beachfront home of his sister, Mrs. Peter Lawford. At one time he surprised Pacific Ocean crowds by taking a swim among them.

After attending church Sunday morning in Beverly Hills, the President held a brief official meeting with his staff and then went to the beachfront Santa Monica home of his brother-in-law, actor Peter Lawford.

Held Back Crowds
Police held back large crowds of bathers and sightseers on either side of the house. Hundreds of spectators rimmed the edge of the Pacific Palisades overlooking the house hoping to get a glimpse of the President.

However, he remained within the walled enclosure surrounding the Lawford pool most of the day. Late in the day he surprised the beach-goers with an unscheduled jaunt through the sand to the ocean. Although less than 300 were on hand when he first stepped out of the canvas-draped enclosure the crowd quickly swelled to nearly 900 as word passed down the beach that the Chief Executive was going for a swim.

Takes 20-Minute Swim
The throng flocked around him and greeted him as he made his way to the water. After a 20-minute dip he jogged back across the beach to confines of the Lawford pool.

Firemen Quell Tahquitz Fire

Palm Springs firemen fought a 1.5 acre second burn fire in Tahquitz Canyon for nearly nine hours Saturday.

The fire, which never threatened any major new areas, was extinguished and the entire area wet down with a portable pump rig, a fire department spokesman announced.

The area burned, caught in the third summer blaze in the canyon area, was contained approximately 50 feet from Tahquitz Falls. Some trees, ignited in upper branches, were felled during the fire control.

The Palm Springs firemen secured from the scene at approximately midnight Saturday.

Extra Bonus To Vets May Be Upcoming

WASHINGTON (UPI) — About 5.3 million veterans of the First and Second World Wars soon may get a bonus dividend on their GI life insurance policies.

Veterans Administrator John S. Gleason Jr. has ordered a fiscal review of his agency's finances, in part to determine whether extra funds are available for insurance policy dividends. He hopes to go over the figures during the first half of September.

The Veterans Administration paid a special dividend of $220 million on GI insurance policies in July 1961. That dividend came out of an excess of premium collections over benefit payments due to increases in longevity since the rates were computed.

The VA now has about $200 million in uncommitted reserves. Gleason could decide to:

—Spend none of it, instead holding it as an extra safeguard against contingencies.

—Pay out all of it as a special dividend.

—Use some of it to augment the regular dividend the VA pays each policyholder on the anniversary of his policy.

News In Brief

UPPSALA, Sweden (UPI) — Russia today continued its new series of nuclear tests in the Soviet Arctic with an atmospheric explosion of 12-megaton force, capable of wiping out a large city, Swedish scientists said.

The blast was recorded at the Seismological Institution of Uppsala University and an official announcement said the explosion was set off at 2:02 a.m. PDT.

VIENNA (UPI) — A drastic purge of 25 Stalinist leaders in Hungary apparently was aimed at reducing conservative opposition to Hungarian Communist party chief János Kádár, political observers here said today.

The purge, including ex-party chiefs Matyas Rakosi and Erno Gero, followed the pattern set by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in his de-Stalinization campaign against the "cult of personality" in Russia.

MOSCOW (UPI) — Russia's history-making "space twins" rested with their families today prior to facing Western newsmen for the first time since their marathon tandem flight in the cosmos.

There was no official word on the whereabouts of Maj. Andrian Nikolayev and Lt. Pavel Popovich, but they were said to be on a hero's holiday following Saturday's mammoth Red Square celebration of their feat.

Tuesday the cosmonauts were expected to hold a news conference at which Western correspondents will get their first opportunity to question them about their million mile-plus flights.

ALGIERS (UPI) — The Algerian Political Bureau today disclosed the list of candidates for parliament in the young nation's first national assembly elections Sept. 2.

All were virtually certain of election since only one candidate is listed for each of the 196 seats in parliament.

Among those named were strong man Vice Premier and Political Bureau Chief Ahmed Ben Bella and Ben Youssef Ben Khedda, provisional government GPRA premier.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two of the nation's largest railroads went before Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) examiners today with their marriage proposal that one railroad can survive cheaper than two.

The Pennsylvania Railroad and New York Central Railroad started down a long legal road they hoped would lead to approval of the merger to create the nation's largest rail system.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Judiciary Committee today unanimously approved legislation designed to make sure that the drugs Americans buy will be safe and effective.

The 15-member committee, reconsidering a bill written before baby - deforming Thalidomide swept Europe, voted to give President Kennedy practically everything he asked in the way of stiffer drug legislation, an administration aide said.

EDWARDS AFB, Calif. (UPI) — Air Force Major Bob Rushworth took the rocket plane X15 on a "hot" ride today at Edwards Air Force Base.

Temperatures on the skin of the rocket plane reached 1,100 to 1,200 degrees Fahrenheit as Rushworth took it through a series of roller-coaster maneuvers.

Auto Crash Sends Two To Hospital

BEAUMONT — Two Palm Springs residents are in San Geronimo Pass Memorial Hospital today, with reported serious injuries sustained in a Saturday head-on crash near here.

The California Highway Patrol office, Banning, reported that Mrs. Florence Robinson, 1125 Granvia Valmonte, 73, and Claude Virgil Childress, 69, same address, were injured at 5 p.m. Saturday in a crash on Lams Canyon Road 225 feet south of the Beaumont city limits.

CHP investigators said a car driven by Pablo Ramirez Laura, 40, Hemet, was apparently on the wrong side of the road, in the path of the Childress car at the time of the collision. Laura was also hospitalized here.

Details of the accident are still under investigation.

Six Minor Car Mishaps During Desert Weekend

INDIO — A rash of six one-vehicle accidents marred the desert weekend, but only one major injury resulted, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

Everett L. McElheny, 38, Hawthorne, received reported major injuries when his westbound car careened off Highway 60-70 5.2 miles east of here at 5:25 p.m. Sunday, CHP investigators said.

McElheny, who was taken to Casa Hospital here, apparently lost control of his car in a curve, and swerved off the northside of the roadway. The vehicle plunged over an embankment and overturned "several times," officers said.

Alfonso L. Venegas, 49, of Downey, and Joe Socorro Quinones, Norwalk, were both released from Desert Hospital Sunday after treatment for slight injuries received when Venegas' car overturned west of Garnet, the CHP said.

The vehicle left the road and overturned 1.8 miles east of Indian Avenue on Highway 99 when Venegas apparently oversteered to bring the car onto pavement from the shoulder, officers said.

New York Stocks at Closing

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks weathered a bout of late profit-taking today to close slightly higher.

Electronics, aircraft and some utilities paced the advance. IBM and Litton tacked on about 1 and 4, respectively. Martin-Marietta added roughly a point after being named prime contractor for development of the Titan III space booster.

Elsewhere in the electronics, Beckman, Zenith, Perkin-Elmer, Fairchild Camera, Emerson and Motorola rose 1 or more. Among the aircraft, North American Aviation, Lockheed, Boeing, Bendix and United Aircraft rose 1 or better.

In the utilities, Con Edison, Cleveland Electric, Houston Lighting, Panhandle and American Electric Power advanced at least 1 apiece.

Chemicals were higher with Allied, Du Pont and Eastman Kodak up large fractions to a point. Ford rose 1 in a firm motor group and some steels firmed.

State Drive For Disabled Worker Help

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The State of California has started a $313,000 program aimed at removing disabled persons from welfare rolls by finding them work.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown, in a statement released by his office Saturday, announced the program's start and said he had "great hopes" for its success.

Under the plan, a disabled person applying for welfare aid would get special counseling in an attempt to make him self-supporting. The counselors will come from the California Vocational Rehabilitation Service, a branch of the state Department of Education.

Brown explained that the service is already doing this type of work, but that the new plan would assign the counselors directly to welfare offices in Sacramento, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Santa Clara, Fresno, San Bernardino and San Diego counties.

He said that the program's cost would be shared by the federal and state governments with the federal government contributing $236,000 and the state $77,000.

Autopsy Set On Visitor

DESERT HOT SPRINGS — An autopsy was pending today into the death of Oscar Miller, 63, of 1480 North Hill St., Pasadena, who died while swimming at the El Myra Motel last night.

Emergency crews were called after he was found apparently dead in the pool, but revival efforts proved fruitless and a doctor called to the scene said the death was not due to drowning, it was reported.

Miller was a guest at El Myra Motel, sheriff's deputies said.

Traffic Group Sets Meeting

Palm Springs' traffic committee will not meet for its scheduled session. It was announced that there would not be a quorum available because of members' vacations.

Anti-Birch Journalist Is Honored

WATERVILLE, Maine (UPI) — Thomas M. Storke, editor and publisher of the Santa Barbara (Calif.) News-Press, today was awarded a third major journalistic honor for his editorials about the John Birch Society.

Colby College announced today that the 85-year old Californian would receive the annual Elijah Parish Lovejoy award for courageous journalism at a ceremony here on Nov. 8. The award is named after a Colby graduate who was killed by a mob 125 years ago while defending his press.

Storke, who becomes the 11th Lovejoy fellow, won a Pulitzer Prize earlier this year for calling attention to what his newspaper described as a "campaign of hate and vilification" by members of the Birch Society in his community. The editorials also won Storke the 1961 Lauterbach award for outstanding work in the field of civil liberties.

Storke graduated from Stanford University in 1898 and borrowed $2,000 to enable him to buy the Santa Barbara Daily News in 1900. The newspaper now is combined with the Morning Press which he acquired in 1932.

The Lovejoy award is made each year to a newsmen of "integrity, craftsmanship and character" who has continued the Lovejoy heritage of fearlessness and freedom.

Elijah Lovejoy graduated from Colby College in 1826. He is considered America's first martyr to freedom of the press. He was killed at Alton, Ill., in 1837 while defending his press against a mob. The Lovejoy award selection committee is composed of Herbert Brucker of the Hartford (Conn.) Courant; Erwin D. Canham of the Christian Science Monitor; Dwight E. Sargent of the New York Herald Tribune; Robert E. L. Strider, president of Colby College; and Reginald Sturtevant, chairman of the college's board of trustees.

Was Suspicious Character 'Sandy' Haired?

A weekend police check of one reportedly suspicious character in Palm Springs just added insult to injury.

Police were called by a woman who said she would appreciate a check of a man on vacant property next to her home. He appeared to be loitering, the lady opined.

Investigating officers reported everything was almost fine. The gentleman was attempting to free his car from deep sand, where it was stuck.

Vatican Denounces Abortion

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Mrs. Sherri Finkbine, 30, her legal abortion here a "complete success," probably will remain in the hospital until the end of the week, it was reported today.

The Vatican Radio called the operation "a crime."

Mrs. Finkbine's husband, Robert, a Phoenix high school teacher and football coach, said he was "very happy" over the outcome of the operation Saturday.

"We both long to be back home with our four children, but Sherri must have a few extra days to rest and relax after this ordeal," Finkbine said.

Mrs. Finkbine, former performer on a children's television show, was refused a legal abortion in the United States. She and her husband came here for the operation in fear her unborn child might be deformed because she took the drug Thalidomide.

Considerate Thieves Left A Marred Bill

A late swim dipped $110 into the holiday finances of Allan H. Davis, 31, of Van Nuys, Palm Springs police reported today.

Davis, vacationing here with his wife and two children, told officers he left his room unlocked and his wallet — with $110 in cash — stuffed in trousers when he went out for a late Saturday swim. Davis is and his wife swam until past midnight, officers learned. While Mrs. Davis cared for an infant child during the predawn hours, Davis dozed poolside and in the couple's room at the Mayfair Hotel.

With morning, Davis' wallet was located on nearby grounds. One lone dollar bill was in the wallet — and it was marred.

CPL. DELMAR R. WOODS ... son of Mr. and Mrs. Dexter W. Woods of 70-711 Avenue 37 Cathedral City, has completed a naval air maintenance training group family reorganization course, at the El Toro Marine Corps Air Station in Santa Ana.

By ELLEN SAUNDERS

Ever so often, one comes across a woman whose skill at preparing a certain food is such that when the dish is suggested for church suppers or family gatherings, her name is on everyone's lips.

Armenian-born Mrs. Harry (Nevart) George is just such a person. So successfully has she mastered the art of making kufta (an Armenian delicacy in the form of a small meat dumpling) that whenever her large family gathers for a feast, the cry is, "Mamma George—you make the kufta!"

And Mama George—a short, gray-haired, kindly faced woman whose speech is still flavored with the accent of her native land—responds with alacrity, even though she is a great-grandmother four times over.

'No Babies To Love'

The Georges own a modern four-unit apartment motel in Desert Hot Springs situated high on a hillside facing Mt. San Jacinto. It was there in the kitchen with Whitey, Mrs. George's white poodle, scampering about ("we don't have any more babies to love now, so we have Whitey") that we got down to the business of discussing kufta.

"The way you do it," explained Mrs. George, "I keep all in my head. I gave Armenian cookbooks, printed in English, of course, to each of my daughters, my sons' wives, and my married granddaughters; but for myself, I have none."

"We have five children and seven grandchildren," she pointed out, "besides the great-grandchildren. They all live close enough so that we can get together very often—and that means a lot of kufta."

A Large Brood

Mrs. George would rather speak about her large brood than about kufta any day.

"Don't lives the farthest away," she said. "He's in Ventura. Eddie and Gladys (Mrs. Ham Kerkorian) live in Los Angeles. Betty (Mrs. Tom Cahraman) is in El Segundo, and Rose (she was named after me—Nevart means Rose in English) is here in Desert Hot Springs. And her husband, Ed DeVloet, own the Kismet Motel just up the street."

"It's good to have a large family," she went on contentedly. "I had only one brother. When I was 11 years old, my parents immigrated to Connecticut. I married when I was 17, and my father and mother returned to Armenia to live."

And then she told a little story

Turn Over a New Leaf For Summer

Summer's the time to turn over a new leaf and toss it in a salad. You can add variety and nutrition to summer meals by trying new greens—dandelion, Chinese cabbage, chicory, sorrel, escarole, endive, fennel—often to be found in Italian markets, if not in your supermarket.

For added flavor and color, use springs of watercress and parsley, crisp spinach or chard leaves, and you'll be adding vitamins and minerals, too.

Small Pieces

To make salad eating easy, indoors or out, tear leaves into bite-size pieces and shred some of the tougher dark green ones into your salads with kitchen shears. The darker the leaf, the more nutrition it contains, but not if the leaves are wilted.

Wash all salad greens carefully, leaf by leaf, removing discolored and wilted parts. Dry by shaking or swinging in a mesh salad basket, then store in the refrigerator in a plastic bag along with a crushed paper towel, or loosely wrapped in a linen towel. The greens will stay crisp for hours.

A Salad A Day

To make every summer day a salad day without monotony, experiment with main-dish combinations of raw and cooked vegetables, either in gelatin molds or marinated in French dressing then tossed with strips of ham or other cold meat, cheese cubes, or seafood.

For green salads, keep a variety of salad dressings in the refrigerator-freezer. Experiment by adding lemon juice and a dash of sugar, a sprinkling of chili or curry powder, herbs, capers, chopped pickle, green onions, radish slices, or chopped hard-boiled eggs before tossing the salad.

For longer-lasting salad crispness, chill china, glass, or crockery salad bowls and plates in the freezer before serving.

GATHERING GRAPE LEAVES which she will pickle in brine for sarma is Mrs. Harry George, who brings to her Armenian relatives flavor secrets that she learned from her 'Old Country' mother. Several of them are given here today.

illustrating the strong hand of fate.

"When Eddie and Rose were babies," she said, "my husband and I went back to the Old Country for a visit. Rose caught the whooping cough, and was so ill that when we went to board our ship at Southampton, the doctor would not let us sail. But later, we knew that this was good luck, for it was April of 1912, and the ship was the Titanic."

"We never saw my parents again," Mrs. George went on sadly. "They were massacred by the Turks during World War I. So my children, they mean so much."

Back to Kufta

She was gently steered back to the subject of kufta. She said, "Before we moved here three years ago for my husband's health (he had bursitis and arthritis, but he is now so much better), we owned a shoe shop in Los Angeles for 41 years, and we went to St. James Church. We ladies raised a lot of money for the church by putting on kufta dinners every month."

"Kufta is sometimes hard to make," Mrs. George pointed out. "One of my daughters said, 'Mama, I want to make kufta real good.' So she came to my house and we make it together very carefully. Everything is fine, but later she made it at her home and it was not so good. Why, I don't know."

Mrs. George explained that a party menu built around kufta as the main dish might include Eggplant Duzmeh, pilaf, a green salad, and—for dessert—Cheese Beoreg.

"We don't make paklava much any more," she said. Paklava is a rich mouth-watering Turkish pastry, and "the young people, they don't want to get fat, so we eat more Cheese Beoreg, which is very nice, but not so fattening."

Mrs. George's recipe for kufta will make about 25 of the small meat dumplings, which should serve from eight to ten people. It is done this way:

Kufta

1 leg of lamb
1½ cups bulghour (fine ground wheat which can be purchased in any Greek or Armenian grocery store)
1½ cups finely chopped onions
1-3 cup chopped parsley
Salt and pepper to taste
The filling for the kufta can be prepared a day ahead of time as follows:

Remove all fat meat from leg of lamb. Grind sufficient of the fat meat through food chopper, using fine blade, until 1½ cups are obtained. Add chopped onion, and salt and pepper to taste. Fry over medium heat for 30 minutes, stirring frequently. No oil should be added during cooking. When done, add parsley, mix well, an chill.

The shell of the kufta is made by grinding the lean lamb through the food chopper twice, using the fine blade, until 1½ cups are obtained. Place the lean meat in a large mixing bowl, add the bulghour and a very small amount of cold water, and knead it like dough for 20 minutes.

Dip hands in cold water, roll meat-dough into balls the size of walnuts, and then dent hole in center with thumb and press to make a shell. "The thinner the shell of the kufta, the better it will taste," says Mrs. George.

Place the chilled filling in the meat-dough shell, and bring edges of shell together to seal in the meat. Boil in broth.

The broth in which the kufta is cooked is made by simmering the lamb bone in salted water. Strain. When ready to cook the kuftas, bring broth to a boil and drop in the kuftas (about 6 at a time). Boil for 8 minutes. Kuftas rise to the surface of the broth when they are done.

To Make Pilaf

Traditionally served with the kuftas is pilaf. As prepared by Mrs. George, pilaf calls for the addition of vermicelli, which, she says, adds an interesting flavor. Here is her method of preparing pilaf for four people.

Take:
1 cup quick-cooking rice
1 cup vermicelli
2 tbs. butter or cooking oil
2 tsp. salt
Brown vermicelli slowly in butter or oil. Add rice and 2 cups boiling water or chicken broth. Add salt, and cook in covered pan over slow heat for 20 minutes.

Eggplant Duzmeh
Another flavor accent with kufta is eggplant, and lovers of this succulent vegetable will be especially interested in Mrs. George's Eggplant Duzmeh. Although she considers it a side dish, it can be a meal in itself—economical and easy to prepare.

This recipe to serve three people calls for one large unpeeled eggplant cut lengthwise into chunks; one-half pound ground hamburger or ground lamb; three large tomatoes; 1 medium-sized can tomato sauce; two green peppers; a few springs of parsley, minced; and salt and pepper to taste.

Season meat and mix with parsley. Alternate chunks of eggplant with thin patties of meat, and slices of tomato and pepper circle-wise in a casserole. Cover with the tomato sauce, which has been diluted with one-half can water. Cover and bake in 35 degree oven for one hour.

Cheese Beoreg

As a dessert, Mrs. George says that Cheese Beoreg is "nice but not so fattening." For the flaky cheese-filled pastry, use the following ingredients:

1 cup flour
1 tsp. cream of tartar
1 cube margarine or butter
1½ cup cheese (Mrs. George prefers Jack Cheese)
Cut shortening into small bits. Toss very lightly with flour and cream of tartar until mixture is

Pork Chops Good With Fruit Glaze

Fresh cherries or grapes will make an appealing garnish for these succulent pork chops.

Mix 1 can frozen, thawed pineapple-lemon concentrate with ¼ cup salad oil, 1 tablespoon each mustard and Worcestershire sauce and salt and pepper. Pour the mixture over 6 to 8 thick pork chops that have been browned over a medium flame. Simmer for 45 minutes, turning the flame to low when the sauce cooks down.

Salad Offers Fresh-Chilled Convenience

The fresh - chilled fruit salad found in the cases of your favorite supermarket is a convenience food that finds a great many uses in summer-time menus. For a cool, low-calorie, high Vitamin C snack, it rates high, and is ideal served at breakfast or as a refreshing dessert.

Hand - selected, peeled, and packed, the full, sunshine sweet flavor of the fruit is there for you to enjoy. Just spoon it from the jar to a luncheon plate such as this. Attractive and delicious—yet it takes but a few minutes to serve.

Try it this way:
1 4-oz. can deviled ham
1 Tbs. mayonnaise
1 Tbs. salad style mustard
English muffins, split and toasted
Shredded natural cheddar cheese
Fresh-chilled fruit salad
Lettuce
Combine ham, mayonnaise, and mustard; mix well. Spread muffin halves with ham mixtures, sprinkle with cheese, and broil until cheese melts.
Arrange fruit salad on lettuce and serve with muffins.

A SIT-DOWN SINK

Something new in the kitchen—a sit-down sink—can give a lift to housewives tired of standing (up to 25 hours each week) to wash dishes or peel fruits and vegetables.

Swimmers Enjoy Ocean-Side Visit

By JEAN PATANE
RANCHO MIRAGE — After an enjoyable four day weekend in San Diego at the Catamaran, Mr. and Mrs. Max Cook and children Barry, Michael and Jenny Lee returned to their home on San Jacinto.

The boys competed in the AAU swimming meet held Friday and Saturday. Nine year old Michael made the high point trophy, for nine and ten year olds, for the Riverside Swim Club which he represented. Sunday they enjoyed relaxing swimming and sail boating. Mrs. Cook and the children drove down Friday and Max joined them Sunday.

Among the guests at the Montecito Apartments are Mr. and Mrs. Ron Lemaster en route to their home in Torrance following a vacation in Arizona. The Lemasters are frequent desert visitors.

Another Chance for Desert Inn?

The swift, sure and loud expressions of public disappointment at Palm Springs loss of the projected $10 million Desert Inn development has apparently produced quick councilmanic action which could be all to the good.

Over the weekend, councilmen in town and scattered all over the country vacationing were contacted for reconsideration of the proposition and a tentative Tuesday night meeting has been set up. From this much, community good can come. Let us hope.

Judging from the hundreds of phone calls, wires and letters to The Desert Sun following its editorial summation of the situation, the community is irately critical of the councilmen whose interminable delays caused developers Alexander and Firks to withdraw.

That expression was unanimous and clear. Unmistakably clear also was the withdrawal notice of the developers. Clear, too, was the thinking of the councilmen who forced the move.

So, further meetings could result only in further impasse if everyone concerned bows his back rigidly to stand against community progress because of affronted dignity.

We hope not.

The council has now the sentiment of the people it serves. To put that desire into action requires no face-losing concessions to the developers, for none of that nature have been asked.

Similarly, the developers know that the community in which so much of their past lives and growth has been centered is back of them in their basic proposals. They can now, by reconsidering, do a public relations job for themselves and their activities which money cannot buy. Moreover, it would seem that if the project would have been profitable before, as it should be, it should still be financially feasible.

They can lose no dignity, only gain in stature, by reaching a reasonable conclusion with a council willing to reconsider.

The preliminary totals of the June primary election results released by Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan indicate that despite the fact there are three registered Republicans to every four registered Democrats Richard M. Nixon has a definite chance of being elected governor of California at the November general election.

The mere fact that Republicans polled some 300,000 votes more than the Democrats in the primary, counting the Democratic write-in votes for the GOP candidates, indicates a lagging interest in Governor Edmund G. Brown on the part of his Democratic supporters.

There is, of course, always the argument that the voters fail to turn out when there is no contest. But this is no indication the Democrats are going to turn out en masse at the general election either.

Jordan reported a total vote cast of 63.53 percent at the June primary, slightly under the 1955 figure, which was 65.68 percent more of California's voters to the polls.

It is undoubtedly this 20 percent which will decide the gubernatorial issue. On the basis of registration, it could be assumed the Democrats would get twelve of every 20 of the additional votes.

But on the other hand, if the deciding 20 percent were not interested enough to come out in the primaries, there is always the outside chance that the twelve out of 20 votes might go proportionately to the Republicans.

If this should occur, coupled with the 300,000 coverage the Republicans had in the primary, the result could well spell disaster for the Brown administration.

Two other factors appear to favor a Republican win in November. The first is the fact that the Brown administration lost two important bond issues at the primary, one for state construction and the other for more beaches and parks. Loss of these two issues indicates that Californians are tired of going into debt and are looking at essentials instead of luxuries in their fiscal program.

Governor Brown's hurry up call to the legislature to put the construction bonds back on the November ballot, and his success in achieving this, is by no means a signal that the people have changed their minds. In fact, sentiment around the state is to the effect that the administration's action solidified opposition to the $270 million proposal for November.

The second factor involved is the history of California. Only three times has a governor been re-elected. Two of these governors, Hiram Johnson and Earl Warren, were outstanding in the field of achievements and their continuance in public life. Johnson as U.S. Senator and Warren as chief justice of the United States proved their capabilities at least in the minds of the people. The third re-election, that of John Bigler, occurred in 1853, too early to be a factor in the state's history. At that time, terms were for two years.

High placed Democrats admit privately the party is in trouble next November.

HOLMES ALEXANDER:

We Must Militarize Space, Atoms

WASHINGTON — "We are now again," said Democratic Senator Vance Hartke on "Meet The Press" last August 5, "in a position in which we are the champions of the free world and in the No. 1 position."

Then, a week later, the Russians orbited their two cosmonauts for a prolonged, coordinated Space voyage. It showed up our own modest achievements in manned Space flight to be very primitive indeed. It showed us to be far back in second place, at least two or three years behind, and perhaps closer than anybody will admit to being militarily out-flanked by an enemy Space platform.

Ten years ago, writing a book published as "Tomorrow's Air Age," I was privileged to visit and interview numerous Air Force officers and scientists in all the research development centers. My futurizing was low-keyed, for I was interested in predicting, as I did, such everyday things as jet travel, backward facing seats, miniaturization as in the transistor, new building materials and power plants for aircraft. But one remark I heard again and again around the thinkshops now returns to mind.

"Rule The World"

"The first nation to get a Space platform from which surveillance can be maintained and atomic rockets fired, will rule the world."

Well, the Russians have almost done it. This is no time for panic, for blame-laying among ourselves, or for political gloating. It is a time to take counteraction, and to study our own mistakes solely for self-instruction.

The counteraction we must take is to militarize our Space and Atomic Energy programs and policies. Administrator James Webb of the National Space and Aeronautics Administration, is a good-enough bureaucrat, but that's all. He should be instantly replaced by somebody like Air Force General Bernard A. Schriever, now commander of the Air Force Systems Command. If there is a military man in any service of tougher fiber and better brains than Schriever, then let's have him.

Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, is a prize-winning physicist, but that's not good enough. He should be replaced right away by somebody like General Lauris Norstad, the nuclear-minded Supreme Commander of NATO, now being transferred to other duties.

If there is a tougher, brainier military man in this field than Norstad, then the President should trot him out. This is no time for favorites, for half-measure men, for peace-lovers. In fact, there is little enough time left for anything except crash programs in the order of the Manhattan Project of World War II, which developed the A-bomb.

Why are we in the fix we're in? There should not be any question in any American's mind. We have betrayed ourselves with a drugged dream of Peace. We pacified our Atomic program beginning with the McMahon Act of 1946 which handed atomic energy over to civilian control after the War Department had made such a stupendous success.

We were once, with the atomic monopoly in our fists, perfectly positioned to accomplish what only a world conqueror can ever bring off — universal disarmament by force. We were then positioned, with the "ultimate" weapon in hand, to dictate and police the Pax Americana. Our failure to be the boss of a conquered world now brings us to a time when Soviet Russia is not far from having the equivalent opportunity with a Space platform that we had with the A-bomb.

Enemy Charged Forward

When the Russians Sputniks flew in the Eisenhower Era, the first reaction was to poop-poo the Soviet spectacular, and the second was to establish a civilian Space agency instead of a military one. From then on, President Eisenhower directed the pacification of both Space and Atomic Energy, while the enemy charged forward with warlike aims in both areas.

Nobody among us is guiltless. All three of the postwar Presidents have cried "Peace, Peace" in a world where there never was any peace. Every citizen and commentator, if he has assented to these stupid bleatings, has made himself an accessory.

What I am going to write now will surely bring the brickbats, but my candidate for the presidency in 1960 was Lyndon B. Johnson who, whatever else, is a leader of men. If the President needs a Czar to preside over American militarization, as I think he does, let him take LBJ off the ceremonial circuit and harness the man's abounding energy to the mighty effort we now must make.

THIS SIDE Of The Sun

R. F. "Phat" GRAETTINGER

When it's over three figures There's no sense in fretting, Complaining or griping Is just heat abetting.

A most futile and unrewarding practice, I think, is engaging in argument about the maximum. But so many people do just that these days.

Like a guy mops his brow and says: "Whew! It's 111!" and his playmate says: "111, my foot! (or some other anatomical expression) It's 113." And the fight is on. Where's the percentage? Anything over 100 isn't cool.

ONCE, before I retired to greener pastures just stringing words on paper, and was still embroiled in daily debates with (a) reporters; (b) advertising men; (c) compositors — in other words, On the Desk as we say in the newsroom — a lady called me up to call me down.

"Whodya think you are, the chamber of commerce of some-thing?" she shrieked. "Printing like you did yesterday it was only 110 here. It was 117. I know."

SO WHAT? Instead of snarling: "turn the hose on your thermometer," I meekly said: "Yes, ma'am, I'm sorry," and she snapped back: "YOU'RE sorry!"

There's a lady who still believes I'm a congenial liar.

Sure, a thermometer on a concrete wall alongside an asphalt street will show 10-15 degrees higher than one down wind from a watered green lawn.

MAKES ME THINK of those blind men in India who examined an elephant. One felt his side, one his ear, another a leg, the fourth a tusk, the fifth his trunk, the last his tail. (The other end.) They came up with six different ideas of what is an elephant. But he was still the same elephant.

That's with the weather, too. WHEN people get through working themselves into a lather thicker than what you see between innings on World Series TV talking about the weather, it's still weather.

Now, that brings up an idea. City council might take time out between debating high rise buildings, traffic, parking, zoning, blow sand and signs, to consider a new ordinance.

This new law I'm thinking about would keep all of us a lot cooler in July and August. Maybe September, too.

THEY COULDN'T pass a law stopping chatter about the weather. That would be against the First Amendment. They could circumvent that, however, by removing the cause of these heat-producing debates.

If they can deactivate parking meters in summer just getting us in a jam, why can't they immobilize thermometers?

Pass a law that every thermometer except clinical, must be covered or thrust into the freezer, from July 1 until the first day of school.

Then, if people couldn't see how hot it was, they wouldn't know and, not knowing, would not talk about it.

Or, would they? I bet the lady who called me up that time, would.

She sure can turn on the heat.

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN:

Dear Abby . . .

DEAR ABBY: My husband does not drink, but every time we go out in public no one will believe he is sober from the way he acts. Last Saturday night we went to a night club with friends. My husband weighs 220 and is only 5 ft. 7. He spotted the daughter of a friend of ours at another table, so he went over and asked her to teach him how to Twist. The manager came out on the floor and told them to please sit down as they were creating a disturbance. (You should have seen them!) Then he went up to the girl who sings with the band, handed her a ballpoint pen and asked her to autograph his chest! He unbuttoned his shirt and she did. Everyone laughed but I didn't see anything funny about it. He's always doing things like that. When I complain, he says I have no sense of humor. Is he right or am I?

WORSE HALF DEAR WORSE: Your husband must feel unloved and unappreciated at home or he wouldn't try so hard for laughs and applause from the general public. Build his ego a little and lessen his need to show off for strangers.

DEAR ABBY: How old do you have to be before you can go to the movies with a boy if your mother says yes but your father won't let you?

ALMOST 12 DEAR ALMOST: You have to be whatever age you reach when your mother and father both say yes.

DEAR ABBY: My family is very "profession - conscious." They don't care what a man is like as long as he's a doctor. I started dating an intern who turned out to be a Jekyll and Hyde type. In the company of others he is perfection itself, but when we are alone he is aggressive and brutish. My parents refuse to believe anything bad about him. My brother interns with this fellow and says I am childish and old-maidish about his friend's advances to me. (This is a loving brother?) I am 23 and don't want to be shopworn before I marry. When I told my family why I wasn't going out with this animal again, my father laughed and said, "He is only a man," and my mother said it is time I was married. Am I wrong?

SAVING MYSELF DEAR SAVING: Keep saving yourself. You will find dishonorable men in honorable professions. Select a man for what he IS, not what he does.

Unload your problem on Abby. For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

Russian Culture Assayed

Ralph Kaplan Reports International Affairs

Despite the spectacular twin orbits of Russian cosmonauts Popovich and Nikolayev some people still think of the Russians as clumsy farmers in straw shoes.

But what happen in Russia now started with Tzar Peter the Great in 1689 when he reorganized Russia on "Western lines". He studied techniques in Holland and England and upon his return he modernized the Russian army, built a fleet, remodeled the administration and the legal system and encouraged education.

Took 250 Years

It took almost 250 years for Russia to have absorbed enough Western "culture" to become the major power she is. Within the 40-odd years of communist rule over Russia a major revolution in terms of intellectual development has taken place. Literacy, the result of compulsory and free education, has helped millions of Russians develop their faculties although we have no competent statistics as to what percentage actually enjoy the advantages of modern learning.

With existing cultural exchange programs, we are regaled by Russian artists and athletes. The recent meet between Russian and American athletes left us breathless, observing the spectacular sportive feats of the Russians. But all three areas of Russian endeavor, Science-Art-Sport have in common that they are results of training. There is a strange absence in Russia of greatness in the realms of thought, psychology, philosophy and even in literature there are few great men. In any close investigation of the phenomenon of Russian development we see the State as the "trainer" of the scientist, the dancer, the sportsman from childhood to peak performance. Thus an elite is created — even the student is paid, but in counterbalance there is the mass which does not enjoy these advantages.

For Mass, Not Class

In this country education by and large, is for the mass and not just for the class. Strange that it was one of the major Marxian demands that education be for "all the people". With equal rights there are no premiums given for special talent; we do not breed in America a new class of supermen as is done in the Soviet Union.

Nothing is taken away from the achievement of Russia's space exploration yet facts should be seen in proper perspective; We do not concentrate on either destruction or supremacy, we believe in the more ideological pursuit of happiness as man's ultimate goal. In rhythm with this principle we believe in free enterprise and strongly feel about education unencumbered by government control.

If our results — upon superficial investigation — are not always as spectacular as Russia's, let us not grow grey hair over this: The goosestep is a more impressive spectacle than the less rigorous marching procedure of the U.S. army, but the intrinsic values of moral, ethic and meaningful living have a better chance to survive than any mechanically acquired skills.

Slow Starter

Of course, we are impressed and awed by the Russian triumph in outer space and alarmed and alerted because of the military and propaganda advantages which may be gained by them. Democracy is a slow starter but has proven over the years to be a formidable finisher.

Our Telstar is as giant a step towards the conquest of space as is the cosmonaut and astronaut feat. The ability to communicate with our fellowmen everywhere, anytime, has made the world shrink. We are drawn more closely together and talk to each other instead of shouting across the vast spaces. Yet the realities of life require their due respect and here it is gratifying to be able to quote civilian Space Chief James E. Webb who said that the U.S. will be first in landing men on the moon.

Russia has travelled a long distance since Peter the Great, and our honest congratulations go out to these two men and to the Russian people in whose midst they grew up, but let us remind the Man in the Red House that scientific progress is to serve man, not to master him. To this end we hope that a common ground can be found to bring to a halt the race for destruction before it gets into unstoppable orbit. Khrushchev should reread Russian history and take note that Peter, the Great, emulated the West but had no desire to destroy his teachers.

Letters to The Editor

Editor
Desert Sun
Dear Editor:
I am taking this opportunity to personally thank you and your staff for the splendid editorial support given the 11th annual Shrine Pageant and all-star high school football game staged in Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum the evening of Aug. 1.

You made it easy to tell the story of the Pageant and its worthwhile mission — providing funds for the year-round program carried on at Los Angeles Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children.

I knew that leaders of Al Mal-aikh Temple and its 59 affiliated Shrine Clubs of Southern California, sponsors of this mid-summer spectacle, and the youngsters receiving care at the hospital join me in applauding a job well done.

Sincerely,

SCHOOL OPENS SOON

Guide Your Child, But Make Him Work

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

It's time now to make some resolutions for the coming school year. One should be able to help guide your child with homework, but not do it for him.

Remember your school days and the last-minute rush studying for exams? Obviously, you realize how wrong that was. You can help your child to avoid developing similar patterns.

Home assignments are an integral part of the education process. They fall into different categories. Some assignments are for practice while others are creative and require research, critical thinking, and the growth of ideas. There are, also, basic assignments which may be preparatory as background for a future lesson.

Parents rarely have control over the actual assignments. Their responsibility can be called supplementary. Teachers desire parental cooperation but they do not want responsibility taken away from the student.

Learning Through Discovery

The concept of learning through discovery is basic to parental help. Do not specifically correct an arithmetic problem. Do discuss the method for solving the problem and suggest reevaluation. You can help a student learn by asking searching questions which will help him to think.

Practice type assignments require only limited assistance. The concepts have been taught in the classroom. The child should be encouraged to seek assistance when it is introduced by the teacher. In such cases, the parent can help by following procedures in the student's textbook. This will avoid confusion of methods. It is also possible that through discussion the child will be reminded of the classroom instruction. In any case, help should be aimed at understanding how to solve the problem rather than a memorization of steps. The teacher is pleased to give further explanation to an interested student and parent.

Creative assignments require a combination of skills which are developed over a period of time. In this type of assignment a student needs encouragement and motivation. You should help the child plan his own approach. The problem should challenge the thinking process, but it should not be so difficult that frustration will result in discouragement. Preparatory assignments are aimed at developing background and curiosity. Generally, help should be of a superficial nature in that a full understanding will be developed in the classroom.

In regard to all assignments, make available the tools and atmosphere conducive to good study habits. Take an example from your local library. Prepare a quiet spot with writing area, appropriate chair, and proper lighting. The student should plan a sufficient period of time. Research books are convenient to have at home, but they are always available in the library.

In total, parents can help most effectively by guiding rather than doing. Supply the proper tools and atmosphere. Keep responsibility with the student and maintain the parental role of guidance. The most effective learning is achieved by self discovery of knowledge and concepts.

Angels Bats Boom For 5-2 Win

Dodgers Fight Back to Nip Reds, 5-1

Drysdale Pitches 3-Hitter

CINCINNATI (UPI)—The Los Angeles Dodgers, whose dramatic comeback in the ninth inning stopped Cincinnati Sunday, battle the Reds tonight in a series finale.

Big Stan Williams (12-8) will start against Bob Purkey (18-4) in the closing contest of a four-game series. If Purkey should win his 19th victory of the season, the triumph will place the Reds where they started before the series began — 5½ games behind the Dodgers.

In Sunday's duel, Don Drysdale chalked up his 22nd triumph when Frank Howard and Willie Davis blasted home runs in the ninth frame to ruin Cincy hurler Joey Jay's fine shutout bid.

The Dodgers scored five runs to break Jay's 1-0 headlock in the final inning for a 5-1 victory over the Reds. Los Angeles took its lead in the sixth inning when Drysdale pitched a 3½ game ahead of the San Francisco Giants, who were topped by Milwaukee, 13-8.

A First for Drysdale
Drysdale, in gaining his personal all-time record win, pitched a sizzling three-hitter. It was Don's first victory at Crosley Field since competing in the majors.

The Dodger ace retired 16 Cincy batters in succession after walking Frank Robinson in the fourth. Robinson later came in for Cincy's sole run.

The Cincinnati slugger advanced to third when Drysdale overshot first base in an attempt to pick off Robinson. Frank scored on a short sacrifice fly by Gordy Coleman.

Howard opened the ninth by clouting his 21st homer of the season over the centerfield wall to tie the score at 1-1.

Davis Passes Robinson
Jay walked Dodger catcher Johnny Roseboro, then Drysdale hit a sacrifice fly followed by Maury Wills and Jim Gilliam, who both bunted safely pushing across the lead run.

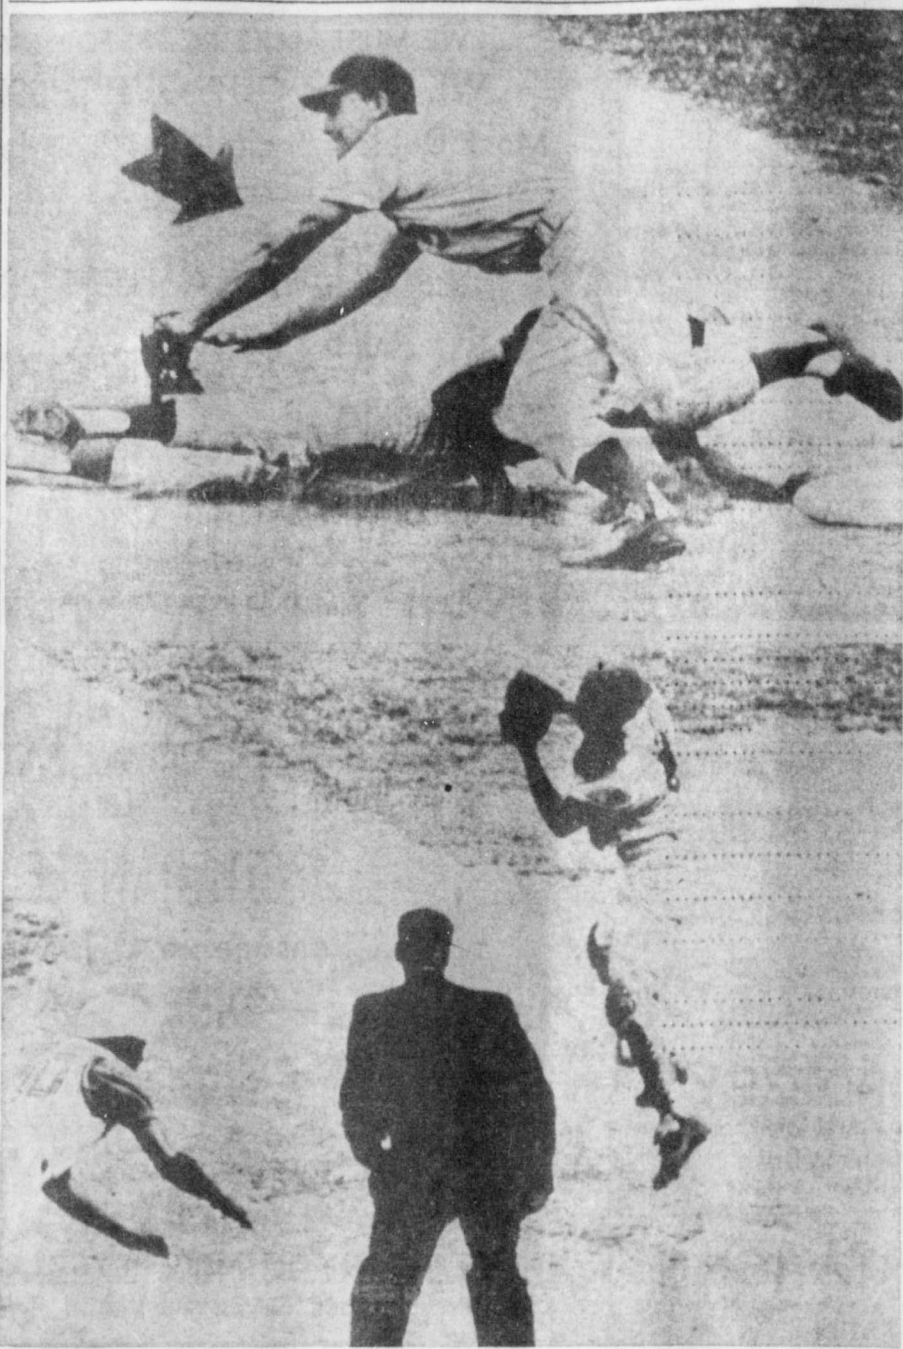

Willie Davis slammed a line drive into the rightfield corner that eluded Robinson. Willie circled the bases for a three-run inside-the-park home run.

Crack baserunner Wills surprised no one when he stole his 65th base of the year in the seventh inning—no one except Jay who should have known better than to take his eyes off Wills.

Tommy Davis had three hits to regain the league batting title over Robinson. Tommy boasts a .344 mark to Robinson's .343.

Jay, who had won his last six starts, was charged with his 10th defeat. He has won 18. Drysdale is 22-6 for the season.

LIMITED TO THREE hits, the Reds scored their only run Sunday against the Dodgers when in the fourth inning pitcher Don Drysdale erred in his throw to Wally Moon at first on a pickoff attempt. Frankie Robinson, the runner, took third on the miscue and then scored in a close play when Gordy Coleman fled out to the first baseman. John Roseboro is the catcher and Paul Harvey the umpire. (UPI Telephoto)

THIS WEEKEND

San Jacinto CC Plans Two-Day Golf Tourney

Because of the first "Some 'R Rounders" golf tournament's popularity and success staged last month at the San Jacinto Country Club, the second such event will be held this upcoming weekend according to J. B. Teddy, club manager.

Like the first "Some 'R Rounders" event, the tourney this weekend will be a 36-hole medal play-tournament consisting of four flights. There will be three flights for men and one flight for the lady golfers.

More than 80 golfers were in the field during the last tournament and according to tourney officials, a larger entry list is anticipated due to the popularity and enthusiasm expressed by the entrants.

According to Teddy, many San Jacinto club members living in Los Angeles, San Diego and other coastal cities who play in the first tourney are planning to enter the event this Saturday and Sunday. Like the other summer tournaments being staged this season, the entry fee for the second "Some 'R Rounders" tourney will be $10. This includes the two days of golf and the cart.

The pre-tourney dinner will be held in the San Jacinto CC dining room on Friday evening starting at 7:30 o'clock, according to Jim Nicol, club pro. This "kick-off" dinner will be offered at a reasonable price not included in the tournament entry fee, the officials indicated.

WARD WINS RACE

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Rodger Ward of Indianapolis, Ind., won the 200-mile Tony Bettenhausen Big Car Classic Sunday by two car lengths over A. J. Foyt of Houston, Tex. Ward, winner of the Indianapolis Memorial Day "500" toured the 200 laps in one hour, 59 minutes, 58.8 seconds.

MACK IS HOSPITALIZED

SAN REMO, Italy (UPI)—Light heavyweight Freddy Mack of Brooklyn, N.Y., was taken to the San Remo Hospital by ambulance early this morning with a broken collar bone and other ailments following a fight against Georges Torrecillas of France which ended in a "no contest" decision.

Crucial Series With N.Y.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Los Angeles Angels have staggered from a brief—but anxiety-causing—scoring slump, and with the New York Yankees as their next opponent the Angels did it just in time.

Held to one run for 19 innings by a Washington pitching staff that is not exactly composed of Walter Johnsons, Los Angeles exploded Sunday for five hits and four runs in the sixth inning and defeated the Senators, 5-2.

The victory kept the second-place Angels 4½ games back of the New Yorkers, and able to make a final fling for the lead when the teams open a three-Chavez Ravine.

Los Angeles is idle today. New York gets one more shot at the Kansas City pitching staff this evening.

Rookie Dean Chance pitched a five hitter for the Angels Sunday, going the full nine innings for the third time this season. He won his 11th game against 7 losses.

But as important as Chance's excellent pitching performance was the gratifying Los Angeles explosion in the sixth inning. Albie Pearson, with the Angels trailing 2-1, led off the sixth with a ground rule double into the right field stands. But when Billy Moran flied out and Lee Thomas struck out it seemed Los Angeles again was going scoreless.

Then Leon Wagner lined his second run-producing single of the game to drive in Pearson and tie the score. Bob Rodgers singled to right, and third baseman Felix Torres drove both in with a sliced double down the right field line. Rookie Jim Fregosi singled off reliever Jim Hannan, who took over for starter Tom Cheney, and Torres scrambled home with the fourth run.

The Angels, in addition to keeping pace with New York, also established sort of a milestone. The win was their 71st of the season, one more than they had all last year.

'Summer's End' Won by Cirata

Harry Cirata, of the Canyon Country Club, copped low net honors in the championship flight of the "Summer's End" golf tournament staged over the weekend at the Palm Springs Golf Course.

Low gross laurels in this flight was won by Ray Hornsberger, local pro, who carded the best two rounds during the 36-hole tournament staged Saturday and Sunday at the P.S. Golf Course.

In the first flight, for handicappers with nine to 18, Ron Pettit won low net honors and Stan Cirata carded low rounds for low gross honors.

Dr. Chet Baldwin was the winner of the low gross in the second flight and Earl Neel placed first with the low net score.

In the ladies flight, Theada Bradley finished first and runner-up honors went to Vivian Lefton.

More than 70 men and women golfers entered the "Summer's End" 36-hole tourney which was claimed by all as a very successful event. The two 18-hole rounds were played Saturday and Sunday and prior to the start of the tourney a pre-tournament dinner was staged at Laurie's Steak Ranch.

Presentation of the awards to winners and runners-up in each of the four flights was made by Al King, club pro, and Bud Phelps, assistant club manager, who officiated the popular and successful golf event.

Dove Hunters' Fiesta Slated For Calexico

The Dove Hunters' Fiesta, which drew over 20,000 enthusiastic hunters last year to the popular border community of Calexico is being presented for the second consecutive year. The dates for this big event are Sept. 1-2, timed with the opening of dove season.

Daylight is 6:17 a.m. on Saturday (opening day) and again Imperial county will undoubtedly be the favorite spot for hunters from far and near. Local Imperial Valley farmers are quoted as saying, "This should be the biggest year ever. The doves seem to be fat and plentiful."

Imperial Valley is one of the very few hunting areas where there is no charge for hunting privileges. Posted areas are extremely limited as only orchards or pastures with animals grazing are considered out of bounds. There are approximately 500,000 acres on which hunting is allowed. Farmers do ask, however, that consideration be given to the protection and preservation of their crops.

Bird sanctuaries and wildlife refuge on the Colorado River, Salton Sea, Alamo and New Rivers, and the areas surrounding the site of the Fiesta in Calexico are considered ideal for hunting with game present in large numbers.

The Dove Hunters' Fiesta includes a Calexico-style barbecue at the Calexico Gun Club beginning at 11 a.m. on Saturday, Sept. 1 which will feature entertainment, music, refreshments, and prizes. Fire arms exhibition will

Softball Play-Offs Commence

4-Top Teams Vie For City Mayor's Trophy

Tonight, the icing on the cake will be added to the city adult softball league, as the four top teams swing into action in the annual, City League Playoff.

The four top teams each year, compete in a sudden death playoff for a separate trophy, that in former years, was designated as "The Mayor's Trophy."

In tonight's action, a double-header is scheduled with Chuck's Welding, last week's winner of the city championship, playing the third place finishers, the Coachella Valley Sultans, at 7:30 p.m., and the runner-up Mexican Colony tangling with the fourth place team, the Palm Springs at 9:15 p.m.

The losers tonight will be eliminated, and the winners will square off for the trophy Wednesday evening. This activity wraps up the softball season as far as the city is concerned, but three of the league's teams will be playing in the Southern California Softball tournament starting at Riverside next week. Chuck's Welding is entered in the 'A' division, the Mexican Colony in the 'B' division, and the Sultans in the 'C'.

With the four top teams entered in tonight's playoff, the action will be fast and furious, and a large crowd is again expected to attend the games. Last week's championship game, won by the Welders, 3-0, drew the largest crowd in recent years to a softball contest.
